PAPER PLANE

I feel as if I am a miserable thing, in a weak body, so fragile. I'm just a human, a mortal, with no aim to achieve. I am scanning the night looking for signs of life. Every-thing's calm in this gloomy scenery. Only one thing gets my attention: the moon. This moon with attracts me. Suddenly, a strange voice is growling inside me, full of inhumans sounds. "I am the animal breath with blows from you. I am the being with breaks yours bones from the inside. I am the deadly poison racing through your veins." My flesh tearing,

A scream, a pain. What's going on? I am moving on into the night, and guess the mutation that without the moonlight I could see. I could run through the woods. My senses are developing so fast that it makes me grow drunk with all the new smells all around me. Without realizing, I'm already running to get short of breath, fighting for breath. I am coming alive again, finally, I feel something! I go on and on, in so far as, I have forgotten who I am, and even forget to think. Now I am just a lycanthrope.
